SESSION DESCRIPTIONS

| Thursday, June 15 | |
|--------------------------------|--|
| Launch Wit & Wisdom | This session introduces teachers, coaches, and school leaders to Wit & Wisdom 's learning design. Participants will explore the components of a module -- a unit of study in reading, questioning, writing about, and discussing knowledge-building texts – and focus on meeting the needs of diverse learners. |
| Friday, June 16 | |
| Module Study | Participants deepen their understanding of how module components connect to build knowledge and empower students with tools to write and speak about what they know. Participants will study Wit & Wisdom 's Implementation Guide, practice a module study protocol, and prepare to teach a series of module lessons or Module Zero, a set of beginning-of-the-year lessons that introduce students to Wit & Wisdom 's questioning and instructional routines. |
| Lead Wit & Wisdom | Focused on developing and sustaining a successful implementation, this session introduces administrators and instructional leaders to the “what and why” of Wit & Wisdom , highlighting the learning design. Participants explore strategies for building culture, techniques for identifying strengths, goal setting, and ways to celebrate success. As part of the Lead Wit & Wisdom training, administrators will participate in the morning session of “Module Study.” |

WHAT'S NEXT

After completing “Launch Wit & Wisdom” and “Module Study,” extend your professional learning with “Preparation & Customization of a Wit & Wisdom Lesson.” After completing these three sessions, strength-based site visits (with optional PLC support) are also available. Contact PD@greatminds.org to learn more.
